DOING HIS BIG
ADVERTISING WORK NOW

A. E. Beckwith Making Success in the Field.

In its current issue, Gauge, called the official organ of the magazine, has some pleasant things to say of the success achieved by A. E. Beckwith in the advertising field.

Mr. Beckwith has sold a great many hundred thousand dollars' worth of advertising material in his time but is doing his greatest work right now.

In one city in New York state he put on three big dealer sign distribution campaigns that resulted in contracts for 35,000 signs. He prepared the literature, etc., and suggests just how to make the dealer see the value of co-operating with the manufacturer.

In originating special plans and designs he is a quick thinker—but his experience has made him very practical, and the combination spells the best kind of advertising service for the buyers.

Mr. Beckwith recently closed some very fine contracts, among them being a big volume order for 5,000 6 1/2 x 28 signs.

Mr. Beckwith formerly resided and was in business in this city.

WEDDING.
Clark—Ford.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Ford, Saturday evening one of the prettiest weddings of the season took place, when their elder daughter, Miss Mary Gladys Ford, was united in marriage to Robert William Clark of Springfield, Mass. Mr. Clark is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clark of Waterbury. He was graduated from Cornell college, class of 1909, and is a civil engineer. The bride was a student of Williams college, a graduate of the State Normal school of Willimantic and a teacher in Morristown, N. J.

It was a fine and happy wedding and the service was performed in the parlor which was banked with laurel, palms, ferns and roses in profusion. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. James W. Hixler, D. D., with a double ring service. The bride was given away by her father, who carried a bride's bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was attired in an imported gown of white embroidered chiffon over white satin chemise, out of orange train. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms, a girl from the wedding party, a bride's bouquet of pink roses, Mrs. Ford, the mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of mahogany crepe de chene trimmed with green lace.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Ernest Hall of Taunton, sister of the bridegroom, and the bride's brother, David W. Price, was best man. The wedding was played by Mrs. Charles A. TRADE INSURANCE
Advertising is trade insurance. It not only builds but conserves.

It creates good will, makes customers glad to return, and reduces the cost of doing business by increasing the volume—and in cutting the costs makes it possible to give greater advantages to the customer.

It is to the advantage of the buyer to trade with an advertiser because that concern is doing business with modern methods.

Read over the advertising in today's Bulletin and it will be clear that the houses making their appeal for your patronage are the representative concerns of the community.

Think of the businesses in the same line that do not advertise—that is, if you can remember their names—and then do a little mental comparison.

It's not hard to see that the men who deserve your support are the men who are advertising and making good on their promises.

EASY WINTER ON DEPARTMENTS

Snow Covered Ground Protected the Water Pipes During Zero Weather—Street Department Had Comparatively Little Trouble From Weather—Gas Department Also Had No Particular Troubles—Gas in New Container By April 1st.

The past winter has been a comparatively easy one on the water department, said Supt. J. J. Corkery on Monday, as they have escaped the trouble from frozen pipes which the cold months often bring. During the zero weather which continued for some time there was a nice coating of snow on the ground at the time, and this served as a fine protection for the pipes, while the frost did not reach a greater depth than 30 inches, so that it did not threaten freeze-ups.

At the present time there is still some water running to waste at Fairview reservoir, as the top of the Brook is up to the level of the spillway. So far March has been a comparatively dry month, as two-thirds of the month is gone and the total rainfall has only been 2.54 inches, where it ought to be from three and three-quarters to four inches in March.

Supt. S. J. Kehoe of the gas and electric department said on Monday evening that the work on the new gas container at the plant on Stony Brook street is proceeding in good shape and that the workmen are now finishing the crown, doing the riveting which fastens the plates together at night to give the tank. By today the water will be run into the container. The connection with the gas main was made on Sunday evening and the first work in April there will be gas in the new container. The final work to be done will be painting the big gas tank.

The city's electricity is still coming from the Uncas Power company plant at Scotland dam, both through the day and evening but between 5:20 and 9 p. m. each day the city puts on one of its engines to help the Uncas company over the time when it has its big load.

Secretary Spalding of the gas and electrical commission said on Monday evening that the new contract has been made with the Uncas Power company people, but the old contract was in force while the commission was waiting to hear further from the power company.

Light Work for Street Department.
The street department is another city department with which the winter months dealt comparatively lightly, as there were only two big snows which called for unusual attention, while one or two wintry storms made the moving trees that were broken. Twice recently Street Commissioner E. C. Lillibridge has taken advantage of thawing weather at night to give the vitrified brick paving on Main street a washing down.

CALLS CONTINUE FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT'S HELP.
Chimney Fire Monday Evening—March Record May Equal February Yet.

A few minutes before 7 o'clock on Monday evening there was a telephone call for the fire department to come to No. 159 North Main street for a chimney fire there. The auto chemical and Chemical Co. No. 1 both responded, and six gallons of chemical were used. The house is occupied by John Bradley and family and owned by J. B. Shanahan.

February made a big record for the department in fire calls, but it looks now as if March is to rival it. So far for the month the calls have averaged one a day, although not actually coming as often as that, but a series of fires on one or two days has brought the total up to about 23 for the 25 days of the month already gone.

The replacing of this train on the regular schedule is the direct outcome of the reorganization committee of the board of trade and the conference held here last Tuesday and the citizens may congratulate the committee upon their success in having it returned. At present there is no passenger train north from this city between the hours of 9:07 a. m. and 4:50 p. m. which is embarrassing to a large degree.
